      The Council’s transportation services contracts with Grimail-Crawford, Inc. and Johnson Engineering, Inc. are scheduled to expire after five years (on July 14, 2013). The services rendered primarily apply to DRI reviews but could be and have been applied to other projects as well. A provision within the existing Contracts allows for a three-year extension “upon mutual agreement of the Parties” (to July 14, 2016). Each of these firms has expressed a desire for such extension.

In addition, it is proposed that a stipulation be added which would grant authorization of another three-year extension of the Contract following expiration upon the mutual consent of both parties.
